WAREHOUSES FOR FARMERS.

SENATOR CARLISLE'S OPINION OF THE SUB-TREASURY SCHEME.

He Shows that It Would Injure Instead of Benefiting the Farmers-He Enters Into n Discussion of Features of the Plan. WASHINGTON, May 31,-To B. F. Howard of Turkegee, Ala., Senator Carlisle has written a letter in response to Mr. Howard's request for the Senator's views upon the agricultural subtreasury proposition as contained in bills be-fore Congress to provide for a system of warehouses for farm produce throughout the country, to be operated by the Government, which is to issue its notes upon products stored

Senator Carlisle says that Howard's statement that he and those associated with him are in "favor of equal justice to all and spe-cial favors to none" embodies sound Democratic doctrine, and if it had been strictly adhered to in Congress in the past twenty-five years the cylis of which farmers and others ustiy complain would have been averted and the whole country would now be prosperous and contented. But, says the Senator, the farmers have been taxed so long for the benefit of other classes, and have seen so much legislation for the aggrandizement of corporations and syndicates, that their patience is exhausted, and finding it impossible. the time being, at least, to abolish the system which has oppressed and despoiled the greatest industrial interest of the country, they are now demanding that the very policy which they have herotofore denounced as unjust and rulnous shall be applied to them, or rather a part of them, for no scheme, or rather a part of them, for no scheme has yet been suggested that would operate alike uponal the farmers. But no evil can be corrected, no wrong can be righted by increasing its magnitude and extending the scene of its operations. There is but one effectual remedy for the evil which undoibtedly exists, and that is to reverse the policy which produced it.

of its operations. There is but one effectual remedy for the evil which undoubtedly exists, and that is to reverse the policy which produced it.

The senator, after rehearing the features of the proposed "sub-Treasury" plan, and noting the facts that the farmers themselves will pay more than their fair share of the cost of erecting the warehouses, and that the officers connected with them will be partisans of the Administration in power, says:

"There are more than 2,400 counties in the United states, but not more than one-third of them, if that many, produce and sell annually more than $500,000 worth of wheat, corn, outs, cotton, and tobacco, and therefore not more than one-third of them could possibly avail thomselves of this plan if it were adouted. It will be seen, therefore, at the very outset that it is a plan to comeol the Government to issue and distribute money for the benefit of the people living in the rich and productive counties at the expense of the people living in the people living in the people living to take advantage of the farmers' pecuniary necessities, and extort exerbitant prices for food from people who reside in the country, but do not own these particular agricultural products. It is evident that no farmer will subject himself to the labor and expense of transporting his products to the public warehouses and to all the other charkes which he must pay for storage, for handling, and for taking care of them while there, which the forcement is to advance; and if he is in that unfortunate condition, from what source is he after and to acquire the means to redeem the products by returning the money and interest and paying the warehouse charges? In a great majority of cases he will never be able to redeem them, but will be forced to lose the remaining 20 per cent, less charges for interest of only 20 per cent, less charges for interest of only 20 per cent, less charges for interest of only 20 per cent, less charges for interest of the will find the time rapidly approaching when he must have m from the embarrassed owners for a merely nominal sum.

"The receipt is simply a privilege of redemotion, like a pawnbroker's ticket, and the farmer, being himself unable to redeem, will be forced ultimately to dispose of it at any price offered. I do not think that any considerable number of intelligent people in this country will unite in asking the Government to establish a system which will compet them in a large number of cases to sacrifice the products of their labor."

Senator Carlisle argues at some length to

Senator Cartisle argues at some length to show that the annual expansion and contraction of the currency provided for in the bill would result in absolutely destroying the market upon which the farmer must depend for the sale of his crops, and that the cotton farmers who are supporting the "Sub-Treasury" plan would be an especial sufferer, because the plan in the writer's estimate would close every cutton factory in the country. He says:

"No such facilities as this scheme will afford or controlling the markets for purely speculative purposes," said Mr. Carlisle, "have ever existed in this or any other country, and no more perfect system for the oppression of the poor could be devised. The exact quantities of troducts on deposit in the several public Carlisle argues at some length to of creducts on deposit in the several public warehouses will be known in every commercial and thancial centre, and combinations to purchase and bold the receipts could be easily made, especially when they can be produced by the payment of a small per centum of the value of the deposit."

In conclusion Senator Carliela says: "Thave

made, especially when they can be procured by the payment of a small per centum of the value of the deposit."

In conclusion Senator Carlisle says: "I have thus given you as briefly as the nature of the subject would permit some of the reasons why it think the proposed plan for the reasons why it think the proposed plan for the relief of the larmers would be injurious instead of beneficial not only to them, but to all the other people of the country. But it would be uncanded not to say distinctly, before closing this communication, that even if it could be conclusively shown that this or any other similar scheme would be perunarily beneficial to any particular class of our people, I would still be unalterably opposed to its adoption, because in my opinion it would be another while and the gerous departure from the principles upon which our political institutions are tounded. It would be, in fact, the longest step yet taken in time of peace toward the consolidation of power in the hands of the Indead Government and the subjection of the private affairs of the people to the supervision and control of a contral and irresponsible authority. You and I are Democrats, and as such we believe that the Government should settinglously abstain from all unnecessary interference with the personal and domestic concerns of its cliticens, and contine itself strictly to the administration of purpoly public affairs. It is a cardinal principal of our political faith that the people are best poverned when they are least governed, and that they are most prosperous and contented when left to the free exercise of their own judgment in the management of their own judgment in the man

CHICKENS THAT GROW FUR, Mr. Ritter Gets a Patr of Them and a

Tragte Story From Japan, Ravenswood has a pair of fowls which grow fur, as it is cabled, instead of feathers. They are the property of Arthur Rifter, a bird and dog fancier of that place. They are a cock and hen with black skin and comb and pure white plumage. Mr. Elitter received them a week ago Friday. He says he got them from an influential friend, who has connections in Japan. They cost him $64. A dozen of them were sent for that price, but ten died on the voyage. Nothing like them, he says, were ever seen in this country before. They are rather small but very pretty birds, but the hen has laid are larger than any other species. Mr. Ritter has sold these eggs at $4 aniece. The two chickens weigh together about seven pounds. The hair or plumage with which they are covered is long and silky. A plume pulled from the broast is seen to be made up on the plan of a feather. The topknot and wing and tail feathers are like small ostrich plumes, and differ entirely from the straight hair on other parts of their bodies. Among those who have called to seefthen was James A. Balley of Barnum & Balley's circus company, who asked for a price on them, but Mr. litter refused to sell. According to their owner, who, however, declines to vouch for the story, the evolution of the new specie was attended with a tragic consequence. He says the birds come from the palace of the Mikado. The original discoverer of the breed was commanded by his Emperor to give up the stock to the Crown. He refused and lost his head. His cons, out of spile decapitated all the honoways, or silky chickens, as they are called on their deceased parents' estate. They, too, were arrested, but they avoided the fate of their father only by accepting the place of chicken breeders to the king. They bred a pure white native fowl with a guines ben, and from her brood one chick developed into a silky. It took six years more to get a mate to the first silky, and even now the plain guines chickens.

On returning he found that the woman from whom the pocketbook had been taken was gone. He turned the young French woman over to Folloama Mulholland of the Central Office. BROOKLYN ROOFERS' STRIKE,

Fears that $t Will Become General in the Frade in That City. The tin and sheet iron roofers employed in James White's shop, 446 Adelphi street, Brook-iyn, about one hundred men, struck yesterday, and it is believed that their example will be followed to-morrow by all the metal roofers in the city. The Master Tin and Sheet Iron Roofers' Association has prepared, it is said, for a long strike. The demand of the men is that their hours be reduced from nine to eight. There is no question of wages. Walking Dele-cate McGuire said yesterday that betwee 400 and 500 roofers would strike, and he was confident of the ultimate success of the movement. The strike at White's shop was precipitated by a disagreement with the boss about the employment of non-union labor. They said White had non-union men at work on a house at Eighty-eighth street and Tenth avenue, in this city, but White deciles this. He said yesterday that he had sublet the work to a man who was in arrears to the union, and that was the cause of the trouble.

Sixteen big shops will be affected by the strike, and already, in anticipation, some of the bosses have had their contracts for work cancelled.
